OVERVIEW MAP

AGENT CONTACT

Will Cooper grew up in Des Moines with a deep love for the outdoors and an uncommon drive to explore and learn more about the land around him. While most kids were chasing ballgames, Will was digging through assessor records, researching property lines, tracking sales, and daydreaming about owning ground of his own someday. Even then, he was thinking much farther ahead than just the next hunt.

A proud Iowa State grad with a degree in Finance and a minor in Financial Planning, Will brings sharp communication skills, relentless work ethic, and a service-first mindset to every client relationship. His professional background in financial planning taught him how to guide people through major decisions, manage details with precision, and build trust that lasts.

Wherever life takes him, Will feels most at home outside with people who share the sentiment. He serves Central and Southern Iowa with the heart of a lifelong outdoor enthusiast and the drive of someone who refuses to sit still or settle for 'good enough.' Friendly, fast-moving, and fiercely loyal, he's the kind of agent who treats every transaction like it's personal, because to him, it is.
