MIDWEST LAND GROUP IS HONORED TO PRESENT

TURNKEY ATTALA COUNTY HUNTING TRACT

This 74 +/- acre recreational property in Attala County, Mississippi, is set up and ready for the upcoming hunting season. Located along Attala Road 3053, the property offers approximately 2,355 feet of road frontage on a quiet dead-end road, providing plenty of privacy and a peaceful setting. Power and water are available, adding to the property's potential for a future camp or homesite.

The property consists primarily of pine timber, much of which was thinned in 2024, creating excellent bedding and browse while also providing future timber value. Pockets of mature white oaks are scattered throughout the property, along with established chestnut trees that are already producing. A spring-fed creek runs through the middle of the property, providing a dependable year-round water source for wildlife. An excellent interior road system provides easy access throughout the tract, with established food plots and box stands strategically positioned to allow hunters to slip in and out with minimal disturbance. For the upcoming season, much of the work has already been done—plant the food plots and hunt.

This property has a proven history of both deer and turkey, backed by years of trail camera and harvest photos. With established hunting infrastructure, diverse habitat, year-round water, excellent access, and utilities available at the road, this is a true turnkey recreational property that can be enjoyed from day one. Whether you're looking for a dedicated hunting tract, weekend getaway, or a recreational property with long-term timber value, this Attala County 74 +/- deserves a look.

AGENT CONTACT

Will Russell Ward grew up with dirt on his boots and a deep respect for the land beneath them. Some of his earliest memories were made on his grandfather's farm. Walking beside him, learning to appreciate not just the beauty of the outdoors but the responsibility of stewarding it for generations to come.

Today, that sense of care and purpose defines how Will approaches every land deal. He's hunted whitetails, managed habitat, and spent years improving his family's farm with the help of trusted mentors and land consultants. Those experiences shaped his eye for opportunity, his patience in the process, and his commitment to doing things the right way.

Based in Jackson and serving clients across Mississippi, Will brings honesty, clarity, and a calm, client-first approach to every transaction. His years in the field and his passion for the outdoors are matched by a steady focus on helping people make confident, well-informed decisions.

Whether you're selling a legacy property or looking for the perfect hunting ground to call your own, Will brings a trusted perspective and a genuine desire to help others find land that means something, just like it always has to him.
